Logicomix

A nice and accurate history of mathematical logic
in a comic book

Told by Christos Papadimitriou through Bernard Russell's narration

By the beginning of the 1900 the Hilbert Program was formulated

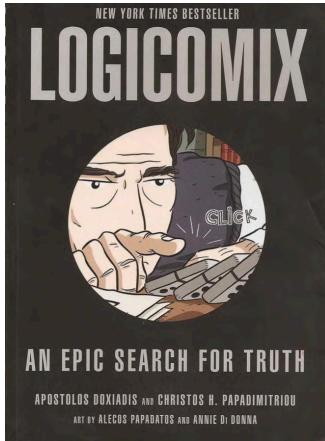

Mathematicians started to work to a full formalization of Math, and mathematical proofs (e.g. Whitehead & Russell)

Goedel destroyed the program, radically changing human thinking in a way we still don't appreciate fully!

Then, Alan Turing came, and from Goedel's Hilbert program ashes Computer Science came to life!
